Jay, I was recently made aware that a prior subdivision plan (by the former homeowner of my property) was approved in 2012 (Brandyberry Plan), but never completed or finalized. I am asking that you reinstate the prior approval for 22 Waites Corner Road minor subdivision. However, I'd like to swap my surveyor's plan with the Brandyberry plan. Both plans are very similar, the one difference is the bottom portion of the driveway. My surveyor's plan allows for the driveway to have access on the town portion of the driveway, which is a more reasonable design as it relates to easement access (no easements are necessary with my surveyors' plan).

Thank you for your consideration, Debra Ferranti
